

NO & LOW COST ADVERTISING/MARKETING OPPORTUNITIES
2011
Montana Office of Tourism

General Consumer Publications

Bev Clancey, Publications Manager
841-2898, FAX 841-2871, bclancey@mt.gov

Montana Winter Guide: Statewide winter recreation information focused on downhill and nordic skiing, snowmobiling, snowcoach tours, dog-sledding, and other winter recreation activities along with lodging and related winter travel services. Most guide placements require the purchase of ad space (very reasonably priced) to cover guide's cost. Updated yearly. Information deadlines: April. Distributed statewide for use in travel information racks and at visitor information centers. It is part of the Montana Office of Tourism's winter fulfillment package for callers and website visitors requesting hard copy travel information. About 60,000 printed each year.

Electronic Marketing

Jan Wirak, Database Content Specialist
841-2788, FAX 841-2811, jwirak@mt.gov

Montana Office of Tourism has developed and hosts a number of Internet Websites that provide information about Montana's travel opportunities including sites, services and events statewide. Like the publications, these are free listings for Montana's tourism-related businesses, attractions and organizations. The free listings include detailed descriptions, directions, and up to six photographs or images. An additional service for businesses with their own website is to link their listing with the Montana Office of Tourism's website for a small annual administrative fee.

Montana Office of Tourism's visitor information website addresses are: visitmt.com; wintermt.com; lewisandclark.state.mt.us; montanakids.com. The Montana Office of Tourism's websites have been reporting well over 11 million visitor sessions annually. In addition to being viewable on our Web sites, listings are used extensively by the Montana Office of Tourism's call center agents at 1-800-VISITMT (847-4868).

Publicity / Photography

Donnie Sexton, Staff Photographer and Publicity Manager
841-2897, FAX 841-2871, dsexton@mt.gov

The Montana Office of Tourism's publicity program works with both national and international travel media to cultivate editorial coverage on Montana in all forms of media (print, internet, broadcast – TV and radio). One mechanism for doing this is to conduct escorted media or press trips, organized around activities, notable events or focused on a tourism region or community and its offerings. The publicity office works closely and cooperatively with the regions, CVBs and Montana tourism-related businesses to identify appropriate tours and secure complimentary or discounted services during these trips. The goal is to conduct a minimum of one media tour in each of the state's tourism regions yearly.

Other publicity opportunities involve providing one-on-one logistical and financial support to broadcast, internet and print media with assigned stories / articles on Montana. Tourism-related businesses can once again get involved with providing complimentary or discounted services. The benefit to working with the media at any level is the potential coverage that can result for your business.

The Montana Office of Tourism maintains a stock photo library for use in the Office's publications and websites, as well as regional and CVB guides. The photos are also available for media use as visual support for Montana stories. Opportunities exist for communities, as well as individual businesses to work with the staff photographer to have their communities or services and/or facilities included in the photo library.

National & Regional Co-op Advertising

Katy Peterson, Consumer Marketing Manager
841-2896, FAX 841-2871, kapeterson@mt.gov

The Montana Office of Tourism's consumer marketing program develops advertising and marketing campaigns to promote Montana as a unique vacation destination. Part of this program includes co-op marketing.

Co-op marketing opportunities are advertising or promotional opportunities that the Montana Office of Tourism "anchors." The Montana Office of Tourism encourages private- and public-sector tourism and recreation partners to participate by offering a variety of affordable media placement opportunities (usually $1,000 - $5,000). The collective leveraging of resources increases impact and improves visibility of the Montana message. It also provides smaller-budget entities with more affordable advertising opportunities to very targeted national and regional audiences. Advertising opportunities vary and may include online, magazine, newspaper, radio, or event presence.

For more information on current or upcoming co-op marketing opportunities, visit our industry Website at www.travelmontana.mt.gov/programs and click on "Consumer Marketing."

Sweepstakes, Giveaways, and Promotional Trips

Susan Buhr, Marketing Assistant
841-2899, FAX 841-2871, sbuhr@mt.gov

In addition to print ads and online media buys, the Montana Office of Tourism has developed several creative campaigns featuring trips throughout Montana. Past promotional campaigns include "Win Your Own Montana Mountain," the MontanaKids Vacation Giveaway, and the Winter Dream Vacation (which was open only to Montana residents).

While the Montana Office of Tourism promotes the giveaway in advertising and typically pays for transportation costs, low-cost marketing partnership opportunities from Montana businesses include donating lodging, activities, passes, and coupons or discounts for meals or merchandise. All sponsors receive a listing on a promotional webpage, with a web link if available. Additional exposure may include listings in press releases and advertising spots.

Group/Meetings/Convention Publications & Websites

Marlee Iverson, Travel Trade Manager
841-2895, FAX 841-2871; miverson@mt.gov

The Montana Office of Tourism promotes Montana as a destination to key tour operators, wholesalers, travel agencies and the media. We attend key travel trade shows, host familiarization (fam) tours, and establish ongoing personal contact with targeted tour operators, wholesalers, travel agents and media. At the National Tour Association Convention participating Montana suppliers can co-sponsor our refreshment booth for $300.

Leads gathered are available free of charge to all Montana tourism suppliers through our intranet website: www.travelmontana.mt.gov. Click on Programs, then U.S. & Canadian Group Travel, scroll down to the password protected area and type in your password. To receive a password contact Marlee Iverson miverson@mt.gov. For a small fee businesses can be listed on each program's website: www.montanagroups.com and www.montanameetings.com.

Private sector participation in and hosting of familiarization or "fam" tours is welcome, appreciated and effective! Complimentary lodging, meals, activities, or discounted services are requested.

Overseas Marketing Programs

Marlee Iverson, Travel Trade Manager
841-2895, FAX 841-2871, miverson@mt.gov

The Montana Office of Tourism promotes Montana as a destination to the United Kingdom, Germany, France, Belgium, the Netherlands, Italy, Scandinavia, Australia, Japan and Taiwan markets. The European program promotes Montana, South Dakota, Wyoming and Idaho through activities coordinated by Rocky Mountain International (RMI). The Japan and Taiwan program is handled through the Montana Commerce Department's Trade Offices in Taipei, Taiwan and Kumamoto, Japan.

In all markets we work with key tour operators, wholesalers, travel agencies and the media to establish Montana itineraries for groups and FITs (Foreign Independent Travelers), while assisting Montana businesses in their marketing efforts overseas. We attend key international travel trade shows, hosts familiarization (fam) tours, conduct cooperative advertising ventures with other RMI states, brochure and video distribution and ongoing personal contact with targeted tour operators, wholesalers, travel agents and media.

Leads gathered at the trade shows are available free of charge to all Montana tourism suppliers through our intranet website: www.travelmontana.mt.gov, click on Our Programs, then Overseas, scroll down to the password protected area and type the password: overseas.

International presentations, marketing information and federal ESTA program information are also now available on the intranet site. Access as described above, then scroll down below the leads section for the Presentations section.

Private sector participation in, and hosting of familiarization or “fam” tours is welcome, appreciated and effective! Complimentary lodging, meals, activities, or discounted services are requested. European travel trade and media representatives are brought here annually through the RMI RoundUp, offering a cost-effective way to investigate or continue your international marketing efforts.

Special Event Grant Program

Carol Crockett, Visitor Services Manager
841-2796, FAX 841-2871, ccrockett@mt.gov

The Special Events Grant Program (SEGP) helps communities and organizations diversify Montana’s tourism product by developing and enhancing community-based tourism festivals and “hallmark” events. Grant funds are available for event marketing and promotion. This is a competitive grant process with matching fund requirements. Applications are available in August with the application deadline in late September. The SEGP funding pool is currently $80,000.

Montana Film Office Production Guide

Maribeth Goodrich, Film Office Coordinator
841-2880, FAX 841-2877, mgoodrich@mt.gov

Montana Production Guide: Statewide directory of film, TV, and still photography production services, personnel, and locations in Montana. It offers free listings for production-related businesses and individuals, and space available for businesses to advertise at reasonable fees. Updated yearly. Information and advertising deadlines: November. Distributed at film-related international events, trade shows, direct mail and by request. About 350 printed each year. Guide information also posted on the Film Office website: <http://www.montanafilm.com/>

Montana Film Office Website

Sage Dubois, Multimedia & Project Coordinator
841-2883, FAX 841-2877, sdubois@mt.gov

Montanafilm.com: Featured Location Section. Communities and individuals are encouraged to submit photos of their towns or unique location for consideration for the Film Office's monthly Featured Location at http://www.montanafilm.com/featurelocation_062.htm The Montana Film Office maintains a list of potential featured locations and rotates them on a monthly basis, determined by industry trends, and seasonality. A desire to attract and allow crews to perform filming in the location is a prerequisite, and unique submissions are encouraged. Submission does not guarantee placement.

Montana Visitor Information Center Display Case Program

Carol Crockett, Visitor Services Manager
841-2796, FAX 841-2871, ccrockett@mt.gov

The Montana Visitor Information Center Display Case Program is a destination-marketing tool showcasing promotional and "Made in Montana" or "Montana's Choice" products and services at a number of the state's gateway community VICs. Approved Montana promotional materials, products and service information is placed in the display case free of charge and as space is available. Items cannot be sold at the VICs, but VIC staff and display case placards will provide inquiring visitors information on where to purchase the item or service and how to make producer contact. The display cases are currently available at these Montana Visitor Information Centers: Broadus, Dillon, Shelby, St. Regis, West Yellowstone and Wibaux. For more information on how to use this program for your Montana product or service, contact the Montana Office of Tourism. Montana Visitor Information Centers (VIC)

The Montana Office of Tourism and eight community partners operate visitor information centers at 8 major highway entrances to Montana. These centers offer opportunities to display and share information, attractions, events, activities and Made in Montana products in communities and regions all across Montana. The materials are displayed as space allows. Below are the addresses of the 8 state-supported visitor information centers and the Montana Office of Tourism contact:
